 TANENBAUM
COMBATING RELIGIOUS PREJUDICE

Join us in celebrating our mission of Combating Religious Prejudice as Tanenbaum Takes a Night Off!

For more than a quarter century, Tanenbaum has worked to systematically dismantle the religious injustice, hatred, and bigotry that plagues our world. Whether at work, at school, in health care, or conflict areas around the world, Tanenbaum works to build a more inclusive and peaceful world.

Tanenbaum's work regularly examines how communication impacts our ability to build inclusive communities. Communication can be powerful but its pitfalls are undeniable. Whether it's a lovers' spat, a generation gap, or a misguided Facebook post—communication failures are everywhere. And sometimes, all you can do is laugh! That's why this year Tanenbaum is taking the night off and making "Miscommunication Mishaps" the theme for our comedy show.

For the hottest (and most hilarious) takes on the subject, we invite you to join us for Tanenbaum Takes a Night Off! on October 3, 2019 at Comic Strip Live (located at 1562 2nd Avenue). Hosted by the slightly wicked but always entertaining Mike Rakosi, this is sure to be a night to remember.

Sponsoring Tanenbaum's Comedy Night benefits programs that ensure fair treatment and safety for us all. At Tanenbaum, we train employers on thoughtful inclusion of people from diverse religions in their workforce. We educate medical professionals about the importance of understanding how a person's faith can influence health care decision-making. We develop innovative resources and curricula for educators that prevent bullying and promote a respectful curiosity towards difference. And we support a global network of grassroots Peacemakers in Action who create cultures of peace on the ground in areas of armed conflict.

By sponsoring Tanenbaum Takes a Night Off! you will be an integral partner in helping us pursue peace, while having a good laugh in the process!
