

Measure Your Religious Diversity Efforts with the Corporate Religious Diversity Assessment!

The Corporate Religious Diversity Assessment (CRDA) has launched! Today's global corporations have many tools for measuring success as they pursue more respectful, inclusive, diverse workplaces. But until now, there has been no available tool for companies to specifically measure the success of their Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI) efforts as they relate to religion.

Tanenbaum and the Religious Freedom & Business Foundation collaborated to create the CRDA, an internal assessment tool for companies to self-evaluate their religious diversity efforts. For more information, please email workplacediversity@tanenbaum.org or call Workplace Program Associate, Sujata Bajracharya, at 212.967.7707 x102. Click here to begin!

Faith-Based Health Care & the LGBT Community

Tanenbaum's Health Care program recently hosted a roundtable event to critique, discuss and evaluate our research paper, Faith-Based Health Care and the LGBT Community: Opportunities and Barriers for Equitable Care. Over 20 representatives attended the roundtable, from organizations such as The Joint Commission, The Catholic Health Association, Human Rights Campaign and Jewish Queer Youth. The event stimulated informative conversations around practical next steps and the responsibilities of institutions and health care providers, which will be used to finalize the paper and our formal recommendations.

Honoring All Women

For over a century, International Women's Day has been celebrated annually on March 8. It's a day that's not specific to a country, religion or organization — rather, it belongs to all women in every group everywhere.

It's a topic close to our hearts, and you can join us in honoring all women—including women of faith—by reading and sharing Tanenbaum's Combating Extremism resources on the bravery and compassion of religiously-driven women working in armed conflicts.

- Women Who Pursue Peace and Justice: A resource sheet on the efforts of courageous, religiously-driven women working in armed conflicts.
- Shared Visions: On Women: A reflection for the #MeToo movement—on how diverse faiths inspire respect for women.

Gala Spotlight – 2019 Honorees!

TARGET - 2019 Corporate Bridge Builder: Over the years, Target has engaged in many important and ongoing efforts geared toward creating a workplace that's equitable for all its employees while offering a welcoming experience for all its customers. In doing so, Target established itself as a global leader in Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion. Target continually exemplifies an on-going and ever-evolving commitment to addressing religious diversity in their offices and stores nationwide, showing appreciation for the various dimensions of difference.

THE HENRY LUCE FOUNDATION - 2019 Philanthropic Bridge Builder: For over 80 years, the Henry Luce Foundation has made significant investments in research, resources and thought leadership that has enhanced public knowledge and critical discussions. The Foundation understands religion's relevance in multiple domains—including in conflict, health and the environment—and has creatively supported efforts to deliver a more nuanced, contextualized and dynamic understanding about religion in the international sphere.

NYC HEALTH + HOSPITALS - 2019 Adam Solomon Award for Excellence: As the largest medical provider in New York, NYC Health & Hospitals recently undertook a program with Tanenbaum to educate and inform their providers and staff about the vast religious diversity in NYC, thereby helping to deliver even higher quality care to patients throughout the five boroughs. After utilizing Tanenbaum's trainings and workshops over the past two years, they instituted an exclusive certification program for their staff (Certificate of Skills in Culturally Responsive Services) to encourage further exploration of religious diversity.
